Council No's Planners 4-6 Amendment

The city planning commission and the city council disagreed courteously and firmly for three hours last night over the 4-6 site coverage amendment to the interim ordinance.

They'll try again October 2 at 7:45 o'clock.

The "meeting of minds" study session produced one point of agreement immediately. The Livingston Master Plan for the "conservation and enhancement of Carmel" must be modified until it satisfies council, planning commission and property owners. This three-way wrangle will take a year at least, the council estimates. Meanwhile, the planning commission will continue to "hold the line" with the interim ordinance which empowers them to require 100 percent off street parking for multiple dwellings (motels and apartments) and gives them design control over commercial buildings. (Barnet Segal had to get planning commission approval for his yellow tiles before he could use them to face the exterior walls of his building on Dolores Street at Seventh.)

The interim ordinance, which has been in effect for two years, runs out October 31 and must be renewed before then.

So far everybody was in happy agreement and the minute hand had moved a quarter of the way around the face of the city hall clock.

But the planning commission wanted an amendment to the interim ordinance to give them "density control" over multiple dwellings in both C-1 and C-2 zones (the business and business-industrial zones.)

The amendment would require that each motel or apartment unit have 1000 square feet of site of which 400 square feet be dedicated to parking and landscaping.

This density control formula apparently appeals as little to the council as it did to the C-2 zone property owners who protested it so vigorously when the planning commission proposed it last winter that the planning commission included the C-1 zone, too, so the C-2 people wouldn't feel they were the victims of discrimination.

Councilman James Buffington, recognizing the 4-6 formula as step one toward the Livingston Plan adoption, spoke of the hardship it would put on the property owners. Francis Whittaker said "spelled out restrictions" belonged in the new zoning ordinance, if the council and the people wanted them, but not in an interim ordinance. Broad discretionary powers for the planning commission to require landscaping, yes, but not this.

Mayor Horace Lyon and the other members concurred.

The planning commission was unanimously opposed to taking on discretionary responsibility.

Mayor Lyon tried to make them see what the town and the council expects of them: "You've got to use your best judgement and decide each case on the circumstances. Just because you let Joe Dokes have something, you don't have to let the next fellow have it." He recognized that exercise of judgement put a heavy burden on the planning commission and left them open to criticism and unpopularity

Reese Wolfe Works On New Book During Visit With Highlands Uncle

BY CAROLYN ELSTOR

With The Girl in Front of Cook's just off the press of his London publisher, and its American publication scheduled for early spring, Reese Wolfe is spending the summer with his uncle R. Roy Robertson of Carmel Highlands.

"I really think of myself as pretty much of a Carmelite," Mr. Wolfe says. "We lived up Carmel Valley from 1949 to 1952. Mimi, my daughter, attended Tulareitos School . . . and ever since Aunt Miriam (the late Mrs. Robertson) and Uncle Roy have lived in the Highlands, ten years, we have rushed down for a visit at the drop of a fedora! Anyway, both Dorothee, my wife, and I have been coming here summers since the post office was on Dolores Street south, and you know how long that's been!"

Winner of The Commonwealth Club's Book Medal in 1954 for his informal history of the American Merchant Marine entitled Yankee Ships, Reese Wolfe, widely traveled and with amazingly varied interests, has produced fiction and non-fiction with equal facility and success.

When I graduated from Stanford in 1929 with a degree in political science my goal was the diplomatic service, at least that's what my family thought, but I guess adventure and printer's ink were in my blood . . .

The sort of experiences that were later to make stories come Reese's way early in a colorful life. "Experience, with a capital E began when I was 16, my mother took my younger brother and me to Paris, to widen our horizons." What Paris did for his youthful horizons Mr. Wolfe has told with rare charm and tender humor in The Girl in Front of Cook's. In the book's foreword Mr. Wolfe writes: " . . . there is a magic and truth in the first time for almost everything that later times is lost forever."

"Vacation, during my junior year at Stanford, was spent in Spain, and what a vacation!" Mr. Wolfe has put it all down, completely zany and hilarious adventure, in his book of 1956, When the Credit's Low, Order Champagne.

"Getting back to the beginning, though I worked hard at Stanford, book-covers rather than embassies seemed to be my destiny."

"I did take my sheepskin seri-

Groom Shot In J.C. Deal, & The Bride?

Two hundred persons listened in Sunset Auditorium last night for two and a quarter hours while two dozen people asked questions or spoke for or against Carmel Unified School District's joining with Monterey and Pacific Grove to form a Peninsula junior college district, buying the existing Monterey College land and buildings.

They enthusiastically applauded Talbert Josselyn when he said:

"After 40 years of living in Carmel and knowing the people across the hill, this situation resembles a shotgun wedding in which whether the groom says 'I do' or 'I do not' he gets shot."

Gunnar Norberg produced figures that indicate that the bride, (Monterey Union High School District which now operates Monterey Junior College) may not be in a fortunate position either.

If the new junior college district is formed, Monterey College loses $80,000 a year state aid which will have to be made up by the taxpayers of the new district. Will there be willingness to vote the necessary over-ride taxes to carry on the excellent program now in existence at the college to which Carmel and Pacific Grove and the other outsiders contribute amply through county assessed tuition-tax?

School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell brought out another fact. Carmel may be depriving its high school and elementary school children of needed classrooms if it rushes into a junior college district.

According to Supt. Stuart Mitchell, Monterey loses its over-ride tax money for college building construction if a new district is formed and in December or January after joining the proposed district Carmel voters would be faced with a $2,000,000 bond election for new buildings at the college within a short time of being asked by the Carmel school board to vote bonds for more classrooms in the Carmel schools.

Whether or not the two elections would find favor with the voters is a matter to be considered said Mitchell. Carmel schools might suffer at the expense of the junior college district.

Eugene H. Arrah, speaking for the citizens advisory committee to the school board, said that the committee advised the board to join the college district after studying reports submitted to them and looking into future educational needs on the Peninsula on the college level. The citizens committee advocated joining so that Carmel would have a voice in choice of curriculum, conduct and administrative policy in a college to which increasing numbers of Carmel students would attend.

John Stanton announced that Carmel Taxpayers Association are holding an election on September 23 so that Carmel voters may express themselves on the junior college district, although results in no way bind the school board.

For the next two hours the public endeavored to find out what the marriage of Carmel to Monterey Peninsula College would produce. That it was a binding marriage was pointed out by Gordon Campbell when he told Rollo Payne that there "was no way out" once Carmel joined the Peninsula junior college district.

Mr. Payne was worried that Carmel, now in the black financially, would be unhappy five years from now when taxes supporting the college were burdensome.

Gunnar Norberg, in the ten minutes allotted him at the end of the meeting showed that financially Carmel was better off keeping aloof from Monterey.

Future housing, based on President Calvin Flint's estimates ranged from 46 and four tenths cents to 59 and nine tenths per cent over-ride tax for future construction on the college; or 59 and eight tenths one hundredths cents taxation for a bond issue to finance building.

To each of these numbers Mr. Norberg said from seven to nine cents should be added to replace loss of state aid equalization money which Monterey receives as a distressed district. Highest figure would be 68 and nine tenths cents as opposed to a 47 cent tax for staying out of the district.

"You're stuck, you're in the soup if you go in," he emphasized.

Then former school board chairman J. O. Handley ended the meeting by blessing the union, "I believe in public education, it's America," he said. "I want free education for everyone including the kids from Seaside."

Quality of education is not a point of issue, Norberg had said earlier. Calvin Flint, Monterey College President, had told the committee that the new capital outlay bill, would provide greater income per out of district pupil.

Symphony Announces New Season Plans, S-Day On Sept. 25

Last year's Monterey County Symphony Orchestra season ticket holders have until September 25 to renew their subscriptions and retain the seats they had last season, according to Symphony Association President Eben Whittlesey.

September 25 is to be Symphony Day when all tickets not reserved will be available to the general public during a day long effort starting the ticket drive for the Symphony's twelfth season. On Symphony Day groups throughout the county will also distribute pamphlets and announce the music to be played on the Monterey Peninsula and in Salinas by the orchestra in this season's four concerts.

CCAL FOOTBALL JAMBOREE FRIDAY NIGHT

Salinas Union High School hosts the annual Coast Counties Athletic League Football Jamboree Friday, September 13th at 7:00 p. m. in the Salinas High School Stadium. All the high schools of the CCAL will participate in the Jamboree with the Carmel High Padres scheduled to clash with Hollister in the 8:45 'game.' As in previous years, schools will be divided into East and West teams with an aggregate score being kept to decide the winner.

The division of teams and schedule of 'games:'

7:00 San Lorenzo vs	Live Oak
7:35 Gonzales vs	Gilroy
8:10 Pacific Grove vs	King City
8:45 Carmel vs	Hollister
9:20 Santa Cruz vs	Monterey
9:55 Salinas vs	Watsonville

Schools will play for 15 minutes in the order listed above. At the conclusion of each game the next listed team will take over from its predecessor. A lucky team will be able to start the game with a first down on the opponents 2-yard line while an unlucky one could be the defense in the same situation. All of which makes for some interesting and entertaining football.

The colorful Jamboree always draws a capacity crowd and this year's football extravaganza appears to offer evenly-matched teams from start to finish. In the opener, San Lorenzo and Live Oak look to be even-up although San Lorenzo is currently sporting a 12-game winning streak. Ami Leso, Gilroy High's varsity coach, has moved over to Live Oak this season and the wily veteran should put new life into the Oaks. Gonzales and Gilroy present a battle between the speed of the Spartans and the heft of the Mustangs. The swift Gonzales backs will be hard to catch but the sturdy Gilroy forward wall will also be hard to penetrate. The third game between King City and Pacific Grove will match a nifty passing Breaker club against the hard-running Valley Mustangs.

The Hollister-Carmel game matches the number one and two teams in the league last season and should be an even tussle. Hollister is big up front and has swift breakaway backs who can go all the way. Carmel will field as experienced starting unit which has been seasoned on a year or more of league play. Starting offensive unit for the Padres will be Pat Harney and Bill Hicks, ends; Fred Nelson and Al Eaker, tackles; Mal Burdis and Mike Raggett, guards; Parker Pollock, center; Cim Conway, quarterback; Andy Gray, fullback; Dennis Peavey and Tony Bingham, halfbacks. On the defense, Carmel will go with Art Wilkerson and Robin Way, ends; Norman Colman and Phil Durbrow, tackles; Captain Joe Mason and Al Eaker, guards; John Morse and Bob Goldwater, line-backers; Pete Phillips and Dennis Peavey, halfbacks; and Ted Smith at safety.

One of the most interesting games of the evening will be the tussle between Santa Cruz, 1956 A-league champions, and Monterey, favorites for the 1957 crown. The Cardinals and Toreadores are expected to battle down to the wire this season and the Jamboree exhibition will serve to get a line on the likely winner. Final game of the Jamboree matches the two largest schools in the league, Salinas and Watsonville. This one is a definite toss-up and, if the handicappers have matched the teams right, could decide the winner of the Jamboree.

Admission prices for the grid festival are .80 for general admission, .40 for students with league student body cards, and .25 for children under high school age.

Inez Robinson

Mrs. Inez Buck Robinson, wife of Vice Admiral A. G. Robinson (USA Ret.) of Carmel Valley, died on September 6 in the U. S. Naval Hospital in Oakland after a short illness.

Before her marriage to Admiral Robinson in 1918 Mrs. Robinson (Inez Buck) was an outstanding New York actress appearing as star of The Misleading Lady opposite Lewis S. Stone; as ingenue with the Bert Lytell company; in George M. Cohan's Seven Keys to Baldpate, and other popular productions of the time. She was also the only American actress ever engaged to tour the United States as leading lady with the famous Ben Greet Shakespearean Company.

During World War II Mrs. Robinson was director of the Stage Door Canteen in Washington, D.C. while Admiral Robinson commanded the USS Marblehead in Asiatic waters. She was born in Oelrichs, South Dakota, 67 years ago, and moved to Carmel Valley with Admiral Robinson in 1951.

Funeral services for Mrs. Robinson were held on Wednesday morning in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea in Pacific Grove with Chaplain Herbert C. Albrecht of the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School officiating.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

ously for a bit" said Mr. Wolfe. "I went into an Investment Councilors firm in San Francisco, and worked mightily. Practical and very business-like I was then. But advising those with plenty of dollars on how to pile up more just wasn't my cup of tea. I had always loved the sea. I wanted to know it, not as a passenger, but as a sailor . . . and for three years I was just that, a Line Officer, first with the U. S. Lines and then with the old Admiral Oriental Line (now the Dollar Line)." As Junior Officer on the President Madison when it made the Seattle-Hong Kong run Mr. Wolfe gathered much of the material for Yankee Ships.

"Then one of those gold and blue days in San Francisco" he continued—"I met Dorothee Scarbrough. She was a member of the bar of the State of Washington and in the Attorney General's office. I decided to devote my then untried talent to writing. Magazine stories, mostly about the sea, were accepted; and in 1936 Dorothee and I were married."

Two years of hospitalization for the young writer, because of a lung ailment, came early in married life. Dorothee went back to law practice . . . Upon her husband's recovery the Wolfes settled in the East Bay area, and Mimi was born in Oakland. "That was a location error I have yet to live down," Mr. Wolfe commented. "She would have preferred San Francisco—or best of all, Carmel!"

The lure of far places called, and 1947, 1948 and 1949 were spent in Costa Rica.

"The political situation there was quite stable then; American dollars went a long way, and I began my research for Yankee Ships. Mimi learned to speak Spanish like a native, and we made many wonderful friends. Amongst those friends was Jose Figueres, president of Costa Rica. You know he has been made president three different times. His wife is an Alabama girl. They came to visit the Robertsons in Carmel Highlands in 1953, and of course the Wolfe family were there, too. When the 1953 presidential inauguration took place we received an invitation by cable; Dorothy and I went.

"But I'm a bit ahead of my 'history.' Upon returning from Costa Rica we took a house in Carmel Valley and were there from 1949 to 1952 when we decided to put Mimi in the Katherine Branson School, and we moved to Ross."

Mimi Wolfe will be a Junior at Radcliffe College this month. Her past summer "at Uncle Roy's in the Highlands" has been blissful she says. "A switchboard job in an office in Monterey, and the ingenue role in the Golden Bough Circle Theatre production of Personal Appearance. Mimi, very much her father's daughter, is majoring in English Literature. And Mr. Wolfe hasn't really just been "a-sittin'" this past summer. Ready for the publisher is a manuscript tantalizingly entitled The Monkeys Have No Tails in Pango

Report From Spain . . .

By MICHAEL GAHAGAN

I am the third student from Carmel High School representing my school, city and country in a foreign land along with 749 other young American boys and girls. Interestingly enough California has the most represented in the whole program and also in the Spanish group, 19 of the 749 were placed in Spain.

I am now living with a family of 11. There are 8 children, the mother and father and grandmother. The children's ages range from 27 to 18 years. The Osunas are a large social and better than average in means family. Their interests range from hunting, horses and sports to painting and aviation. The family is well respected in the town of Ecija, which is a typical Adalucian town of about 50,000 people. The father has large landholdings in and around Ecija with a main crop of wheat. The town is situated northeast of Seville on a tributary of the Guadalquivir River and about two hours away by car.

I have been in Seville for about four days, all totaled, and have found Seville all that it is said to be. I wish a person could be set exactly in the middle of this once ancient seat of the "Catholic Kings", Ferdinand and Isabella, because the outskirts are deceiving to the visitor traveling by car. In old Seville the narrow streets and small quarters; the houses, wrought-iron gates and royal gardens all give Seville enchantment that is beyond compare.

Perhaps the most striking and principal monuments of Seville are the Alcazar and the Cathedral. The site of the Alcazar was the residence of the Almohade Sultans. Later it was a palace of Peter the First. Now it stands as a beautiful example of Moorish architecture with vast formal gardens adding to its splendor. The Cathedral is one of the most handsome in the Christian world. The general plan is Gothic but the supreme effort that was left by the Arabs is the slender town known as the Giralda.

I have had a look at all the major towns of Andalusia except Granada. Cadiz (on the Atlantic) with its beautiful beach. Algeciras, Malaga, with the beautiful resort town of Torremolinos very similar to Carmel nearby and Cordoba with its famous Mesquita.

Ecija itself is a marvel. Some 30 towers reach for a cloudless blue sky. They are Moorish in influence and are adorned with dull pale colors. This is a town where horses are the mode of transportation. The Osunas have three carriages drawn by matched chestnuts. They have a swimming pool which is a necessity to escape 120-130 degree heat for which Ecija is famous. There is also a very small tennis club with an equally small pool and one well kept clay court.

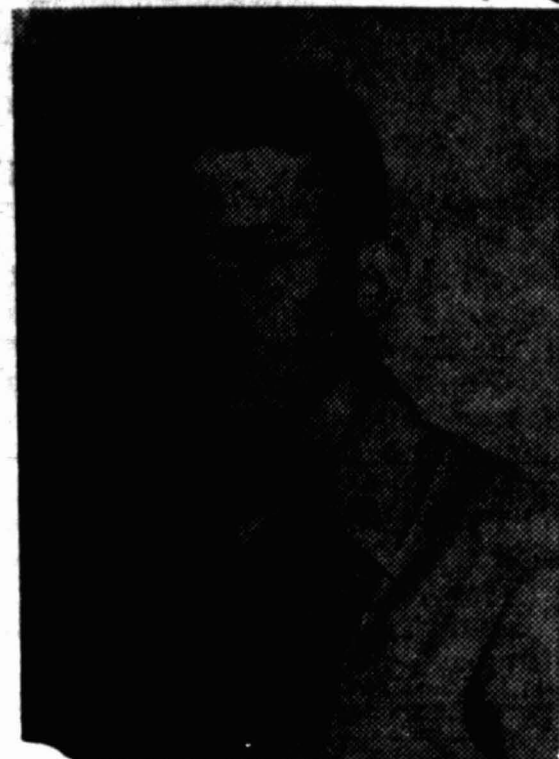

The typical day in Ecija begins thusly: Jesus, my brother 19, and

I rise about 11:00. Breakfast consists of coffee and a few rolls. We then go with the rest of the brothers to the family pool. We return for lunch at 3:00. Lunch is the heavy meal of the day consisting of soup, meat, potatoes and fish. All cooking is done on a wood stove, even in the best of homes. After lunch if necessary we take a siesta. At about 7:00 we either play tennis or ride in the fields on the outskirts of Ecija. Dinner is at 10:00. Soup, potatoes and eggs are on the menu. Fruit at every meal. Water or wine for drinks.

After dinner we may walk the main street like many other Ecijians or sit in the park by the River Genil. This is something, I think, that is only done in Spain. The whole town after dinner walks the streets. People walking aimlessly with no cares. Greeting friends with a cheery, "Buenas Noches!" Relaxation in the cool night air after a day's work. Jesus and I, as do many of the others of our age, usually go to a movie. This starts at 11:30 and you have preference seats for eight cents. The movie is almost always of American extraction. Have you ever heard Gary Cooper say, "Drop that gun!" in a high pitched Spanish voice. These people believe the movies to be the gospel truth. They couldn't understand why my plane (on the way to New York) ever went near Chicago with all the gangsters and underworld warfare. The movie gets out about 1:30 and so to bed at 2:00.

So in closing from Ecija situated in rolling "California" type hills, want to say thank you to all those who made it possible for me to talk and live with people of different beliefs, ideas and customs. If only this program could be expanded a 100 fold. We would not be facing the omnipresent threat of a third world war.

In a few more days I say good-

Marine Pfc. Perry Kneeder (above) is stationed on the carrier USS Philippine Sea in Long Beach as an admiral's orderly. First Fall Session Of Poetry Workshop Opens Monday, 7:30

For a second year, poetry lovers will be offered an opportunity to participate in the poetry workshop in the Carmel Adult Education program. The workshop is conducted by Mrs. Olivia Young in room four at the Sunset School, beginning Monday, at 7:30 o'clock.

In stating the purpose of the class, which is to stimulate poetic expression through understanding of craftsmanship, Mrs. Young points out that discussions will center around the contest and bye to my family. But not forever, for I will be back because as a bullfight is something that can set a person afire with enthusiasm and that is etched in one's memory forever, so is Ecija and Spain!

structure of a poem. Content will include the quality and sound of words, and methods for capturing emotion. Structure will emphasize the musical pattern of rhythm and rime, and the building of regular and free forms to fit a mood or thought.

The class is designed for beginning poets. Assignments are a part of the classwork. Individual work is constructively analyzed, for Mrs. Young believes that there is much inspiration and incentive to work, in studying together.

An invitation to attend is extended to those who are writing and wish to brush up on technique, and to those who have never written, but wish they could.

It is a strange spectacle to see labor unions set out to destroy or to limit and qualify a fundamental Constitutional Liberty when it is the principle upon which their very existence is founded. Yet that is precisely what they are doing, when they deny a man the right not to join a union.

Freedom rests on choice, and where choice is denied freedom is destroyed as well.

Actually there is no such thing in this country as freedom of contract with respect to union membership. There once was but that day is no more. The freedom advocated by the proponents of compulsory unionism is distinctly a one sided affair.

The overwhelming majority of employers in the country are opposed to any form of compulsory union membership, many of them have, nevertheless, agreed to the unionshop because of the labor leaders' threats of strikes, or any other methods they can use to force the issue.

Communist tactics predominate as has been proven. If a man speaks up to protest mismanagement or corruption, his days are numbered. Something is going to happen to him, he will be given a severe beating, so bad he will be hospitalized, or shot as was done at Oroville, and Sebastapol.

Last week Krushchev said, "Labor will conquer the world by peaceful means."

Editor, The Pine Cone:

A great many of my friends are telling me that they believe in unions and collective bargaining, and believe also in "Right-to-Work" laws. Which only shows that they have not thought the problem through. For "Right-to-Work" laws, and unions and collective bargaining are mutually incompatible.

The reason is that if an employer, without fear of a strike, can hire non-union workers, that is what he will do. Very soon there will be no union members, or those left will be so afraid of being replaced, they will not open their mouths to ask for better wages, shorter hours, vacations and better working conditions. There can be no collective bargaining unless by calling a strike, a union is in a position to put pressure on the employer. And strikes cannot win unless strike calls are answered by a majority of the workers. They will not be so answered unless the workers are union members. And they will not be union members if employers are free to hire only non-union members, if they prefer to do so. That is why we must choose between "Right-to-Work" laws and unions and collective bargaining. We can't believe in both.

When I got out of college back in 1910 most workers worked 10 hours a day, 60 hours a week; but those in the steel industry worked 12 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. Wages were low, even in terms of the low prices which existed then. Few workers could afford luxuries. But gradually unions gained strength and by strikes or threats of strikes they forced the wages up and hours down. Today the outstanding characteristic of our country is its widely spread high living standards and leisure time for all. Perhaps the biggest single factor in our arriving at this happy state has been our labor unions. I don't think it is in the interest of the nation to start now to destroy unions and collective bargaining by passage of "Right-to-Work" laws, which will give first call on jobs to non-union workers and insure union workers being replaced by persons who don't demand a right to have some say when wages, hours and working conditions are fixed.

Unions are not always wise, some strikes are unwise, racketeering in unions is deplorable. But let's not kill a goose that has laid us a lot of golden eggs, to get rid of goose-diseases.

STAMP CLUB MEETING

Trading stamps and member participation will be the program at the meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club to be held in the Carmel High School at 8:00 o'clock Monday evening.

Member Participation proved successful at the last meeting when members brought albums, covers and stamps from their collections.

Colonel John R. Wright presented a volume of United States Twentieth Century stamps; A. G. Wigham, all of the Queen Elizabeth stamps to date—80 pages in all; E. R. Yount, two volumes of air mails, first day covers and a collection of Columbians; Mrs. Elsie Sherer, a censored cover from Japan dated 1940; Colonel Harold H. Capers, Victory hand-cancelled stamps on covers of the Japanese occupation of the Philippines; Sally Reichard, an album of Philippine stamps; L. S. Colonel William B. Graham and Mrs. Dolores Martin won the door prizes.

Colonel Wright announced that members who did not participate in the August meeting will be given the opportunity to do so in the September meeting, Monday, September 16. Refreshments will be served. What'll it be tonight... boxing, drama or "Hi-Yo, Silver"

If your house is like most, you can't please all the family all the time with one TV set. It always seems that a "Western" gallops into your living room just when the fights go on . . . or mother's favorite drama is scheduled.

You can cut this problem in half with a second set. You'll be surprised at the low price of those new portable sets. A second TV in your home would create a sensation with the kids and let you watch what you please . . . in peace.

Here, take a poll of your family's together, a second

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves,
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

BRUCE'S EDDY VICTORY

A notable victory for the conservation forces of the country has just been won during the closing weeks of Congress. Its magnitude and significance are just beginning to be apparent. To be sure, it is not a permanent victory, as was the case in the Echo Park dam controversy, since the issue will come up again next year, but it is nevertheless an amazing proof of the strength of the united conservation forces of the country.

At the risk of repeating what I have written in previous columns about the Bruce's Eddy dam controversy, I shall summarize briefly the facts in the case and then describe the successful outcome. Bruce's Eddy dam is proposed by the Army Engineers for the North Fork of the Clearwater River in Idaho. It is one of the best wildlife areas of the country and contains some superb mountain scenery. The dam is opposed by the National Wildlife Federation, because of the damage it would do to the elk herds and steelhead runs. The Idaho Wildlife Federation claims that it is wanted for a logging pond for Potlatch Forests, Inc., Idaho's big timber combine. The other conservation organizations of the country are backing the National Wildlife Federation, partly because of the destruction that it would cause of the scenic resources of the region.

The dam was not authorized by Congress in the Rivers and Harbors bill; yet Senator Dworshak of Idaho introduced an amendment to the Public Works Appropriation bill, appropriating $500,000 for engineering planning. This was an effort to get in the back door and the conservation forces of the country swung into action in opposition to the amendment.

It was put into the bill under a suspension-of-the-rules motion at a time when few senators were on the floor. It squeaked past the House-Senate Conference Committee by a 6-5 vote. Ordinarily a Conference Committee decision is honored by the House when it is considered on the floor of the House and it looked as if Senator Dworshak's end run was going to succeed.

In this case, however, the conservationists started sending telegrams to their congressmen. This columnist contributed a goodly number of them. The really astounding result was that the amendment was defeated by a vote of 363 to 23.

No such reversal of a Conference Committee report has been known in years. The Echo Park dam victory a year ago last March was considered an outstanding evidence of the growth of conservation sentiment in Congress, but the Bruce's Eddy vote was far more convincing and is sufficient proof, if such proof is needed, that the title of this column, CONSERVATION ON THE MARCH, is not an

Potter Returning A. C. Disarmament Program Donations

Contributions to bring An Attainable Christian Disarmament Program continue to come in, stated Zenas L. Potter, initiator of the plan; but they are being returned to donors, since total contributions were insufficient to warrant use of space in the Washington Post. However, other means for calling the suggestion to the attention of top officials of the Government have been successful. Potter has heard from the White House, the Vice-president, the Secretary of State and many members of Congress. Also from church leaders and prominent citizens in various parts of the country.

"It was not the intent," Zenas Potter says, "to do more than make sure the proposals got the attention of those who formulate our foreign policies. The suggestion that we go as far as possible without sacrifice of our security, when the London Disarmament Conference failed, was a little different from other proposals. Especially the suggestion that we release now information on how to make so-called 'clean' bombs. 'The Government did propose a two year cessation of atomic tests, at London. But to date no move has been made to release the formula for production of 'clean' bombs. That may come later. There is, however, no disposition as yet to act unilaterally. We proposed only steps which could be taken without endangering our security; but fear seems to prevail that any steps might lose us some bargaining points in future disarmament negotiations. 'Seemingly, after 11 years of futile negotiations with the Soviet Union, top government officials still look to negotiations as our hope for reduction of atomic dangers.'"

It should be noted, however, that the House is much more responsive to conservation sentiment than the Senate. Senators tend to back up each other's requests for money for their states, regardless of the conservation issues involved. In this case the senior senator from California delivered a short speech in high praise of Senator Dworshak's back-door tactics. Even here, however, in three recent elections, two in Oregon and one in Idaho, the conservation issues have swung the decision in favor of conservation-minded senators. Conservationists should be greatly encouraged by recent tendencies.

Pine Needles

Ruth Harrington Married

Carmel Mission altar was lighted by tall white tapers and decorated with vases filled with white chrysanthemum, gladioli and greenery for the Saturday morning marriage of Ruth Abbie Harrington and Joseph Pitkin Russell. The Reverend Lawrence Farrell of Monterey, cousin of the bride's father, performed the double ring marriage ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass which followed.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, Mr. J. J. Harrington, wore a ballerina length gown of ivory silk organza over white taffeta made in princess style. The Sabrina front neckline of the fitted bodice ended in a V in back accented by a bow. Bell-shaped short balloon sleeves fell from the dropped shoulders of the dress and skirt fullness was increased at the sides and back by gores widening from waist to hemline.

An Alencon lace Juliet cap, trimmed with seed pearls, held her fingertip veil in place and she carried a spider arrangement of white orchids and bouvardia.

Mrs. Grant Erickson (Joan Harrington) of Walnut Creek was matron of honor for her sister and bridesmaids were Margaret Carpenter of Carmel and Suzanne Sloman of San Francisco dressed alike in emerald peau de sole sheaths with cummerbunds of the material marking the waistlines and fishtail insets giving fullness to the skirts in back. Their shoes matched their dresses and their small picture hats had brims of emerald horsehair surrounding circlet crowns of braided emerald ribbon. They carried spider bouquets of pink elfie roses, the matron of honor's a deeper shade than those of the bridesmaids.

Sherry Russell, sister of the groom, was flower girl in a picture frock of antique white taffeta with an emerald sash, a bertha collar outlining the scoop neckline of the fitted bodice, and the skirt ending in scallops at the ballerina length hemline. Her hat and flowers matched those of the other attendants.

Best man for the groom was Howard Dodge of Berkeley and ushers were Richard Springford of North Hollywood, Philip O'Shaughnessy of Berkeley and Kurt von Meier and Skip Lloyd of Carmel.

The wedding breakfast and reception, were held at the Mark Thomas Inn where Mrs. Harrington, mother of the bride, received the guests wearing an imported blue knitted sheath dress with matching jacket, a Dior blue small feathered hat, white accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Joseph P. Russell, mother of the groom, who, with her husband Colonel Russell and daughter Sherry flew from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, for the marriage, attended the ceremony in a beige crepe dress with beaded satin bow trimming the front neckline, a champagne colored yelours cartwheel hat, matching shoes and a clutch bag to which she pinned cymbidium orchids.

After the bride and groom had cut their three-tiered wedding cake, surrounded with pink and white begonias, they left for a honeymoon in Southern California. For travelling the bride chose a black and white tweed suit, white chiffon pillbox hat and black accessories.

On their return they will live in San Francisco where the bride is entering the Emporium buyers' training program while the groom resumes his pre-law studies at the University of California in Berkeley.

Home From Mountains

Fremont Ballou returned this week end from a month-long camping trip and visit to relatives and friends in the Sacramento Valley, Lake Tahoe area and San Joaquin Valley. He spent two weeks at the Audubon Camp at Sugar Bowl Lodge, climbed Squaw Peak, Crows Nest, Mts. Disney and Judah, and Granite Chief. Monday, last week, he was at Tuolumne Meadows and took a hike down the Tuolumne River to Glen Aulin with Sierra Club members. Tuesday he had a solo ascent of 13,050 ft. Mt. Dana.

Return From Vancouver Island

Mrs. George B. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Johnson and sons, Doug, Kent and Roddy are back from a fishing and sightseeing trip which took them as far north as Canada. Enroute they visited Lake Tahoe, Virginia City, and Burney Falls and hiked to Bumpas in Mount Lassen National Park. Fishing and camping were good on Hat Creek as well as in the remote mountainous country of the Walkermine area, they report.

The group visited state capitols in Sacramento, Salem, Oregon, and Olympia, Washington; and especially enjoyed the daily organ concert in the lobby of the Oregon capitol.

In Victoria, British Columbia, they had tea at the Empress Hotel, played golf, and saw the lowering of the flag ceremony at the provincial Parliament buildings and the subsequent lighting of the structures.

Crossing to Vancouver they visited Stanley Park and saw the Vancouver-Seattle baseball game before returning to Carmel.

John Hicks Wed Saturday

White gladioli and stock decorated the altar of St. Paul's Catholic Church in San Francisco on Saturday morning for the marriage at 11:00 o'clock of Joyce Marie Quintana and John Ralph Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waldo Hicks of Carmel.

The bride, given in marriage by her father Mr. Alfred Quintana, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. A small turnover collar framed the high neck of the long sleeved fitted bodice which was fastened down the back with a row of tiny satin buttons. A deep net ruffle bordered the front of the full floor length skirt with two similar ruffles forming a short train in back. A band of seed pearls held her fingertip veil in place and she carried a shower arrangement of fleur d'amour centered with white orchids.

Roberta Abeyta of Denver, Colorado, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor in a pale yellow crystal-lette over net dress with a short sleeved, scoop neckline fitted bodice from which fell a full ballerina length skirt. Two narrow ribbon panel insets of crystal-lette on each side of the bodice front ended in small bows above deep openings in the skirt, showing the net underskirt. Tailored crystal-lette bows trimmed the skirt in back from waist to ballerina length.

hemline. She carried a shower bouquet of small white carnations and a yellow bandeau trimmed with seed pearls kept her face veil in place.

Anne Hicks of Carmel, sister of the groom, and Rose Salazar of San Francisco were bridesmaids in turquoise gowns, similar in style to that of the maid of honor, carrying similar bouquets and wearing similarly styled matching turquoise headbands.

Sandra Carpierez was flowergirl in a long white crystal-lette dress with yellow bowknots accenting the yoke and carrying a nosegay bouquet.

Ronnie Torres was ringbearer. Best man was Richard Kirby of Walnut Creek and ushers were Gary Appleton of Carmel, Carl Houser and Earl Carrillo, cousin of the bride.

The breakfast for members of the wedding party and the families of the bride and groom was held at the Cliff House, immediately following the nuptial Mass. A reception was given in the evening at Sands Hall in San Francisco.

Mrs. Quintana, mother of the bride, attended the wedding in a blue lace and crepe dress, matching blue shoes, pink hat and gloves and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Hicks, mother of the groom, wore a winter red peau de soie dress and matching jacket, with black velvet hat and accessories and a white orchid corsage.

After a honeymoon in Southern California the bride and groom will live in San Francisco while John completes his Navy service at Hunter's Point.

Barbara And Dennis Set Date

The marriage of Barbara Jean Tibbetts to Dennis Narvaez on September 21 in Carmel Mission will unite members of two families associated with the history of this part of California and the United States.

Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Tibbetts and a fourth generation graduate, on her mother's side of the family, from Bay School, when it was an eight grade elementary school. Her great-grandmother, Mrs. Seferino Morales, member of the Victorine family, was a first generation graduate from Bay and lived in the original Victorine family home which is the house immediately behind the school on the seashore at the mouth of San Jose Creek. The Victorine family came here during the last century and were associated with the whale fisheries at Point Lobos.

Dennis is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Leon Narvaez and, on his father's side, the great-great-grandson of General Jose Castro, who fought to defend Spanish California against Gen. John Charles Fremont.

Dennis' great-grandmother was General Castro's daughter, Modesta, who married William Dana, relative of Richard Henry Dana, author of Two Years Before The Mast, and of Francis Dana, signer of the Articles of Confederation and member of the Continental Congress.

Following their marriage Barbara and Dennis plan to live in the house they are building on the Narvaez family property in the south part of Carmel near Junipero Street and Eleventh Avenue.

John Halloran Flying to Fiji

Carmel Art Association Gallery curator John Halloran leaves tomorrow to fly to Fiji where he will meet his mother, Mrs. C. R. Halloran, and his sister, Mrs. John Laidley, who are flying from Sydney, Australia, to greet him in Suva.

It is ten years since Mr. Halloran last saw his sister and two years since he and his mother were together. At that time she visited Carmel, but now no one has time to cover the complete distance between the United States and Aus-

Eleanor Taggart Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Howard Taggart and their son Howard are expected back in Carmel this week end after attending the wedding of the Taggarts' daughter, Eleanor Ruth Taggart, to Edsall Joe Britain on September 5 in Abilene, Texas. The marriage took place at 7:00 o'clock in the evening in the First Christian Church with the Reverend Harold Edwards performing the ceremony before a setting of candled arches and white gladioli.

Mr. Taggart gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white muslin de scie with Swiss embroidery bordering the bateau neckline and cap sleeves of the fitted bodice and edging the three tiers of the full skirt. The lower tier flowed into a chapel train in back.

A halo of lace leaves outlined in satin piping and embroidered with seed pearls held her fingertip veil in place and she carried a cascade of white roses and variegated ivy.

Mrs. H. W. Wentz was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Margaret Fritsch and Mrs. Millard D. Heath. They wore floor length dresses of daisy yellow polished satin made with fitted basque waists, sweetheart necklines and full gathered skirts over net underskirts. Matching velvet bandeaux in their hair had bows on top from which streamers fell to the waistline and they carried chains of white pompoms.

Tom Britain was best man for his brother, Groomsman were Howard J. Taggart of Carmel, James K. Graham and James D. Tittle. Ushers were Robert G. Hollowell and Sidney Howze.

The reception following the wedding was held in the Friendship Hall of the church. After a honeymoon in New Mexico the couple will live in Midland, Texas.

The bride is a graduate of Carmel High School and attended the University of California before going to live with her aunt, Mrs. Howard L. Farnsworth in Abilene, where she has been a geological secretary for Skelly Oil Company.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Brittain of Abilene. He graduated from Abilene High School then studied at the University of Texas and Abilene Christian College before serving for four years in the Army. He is now employed by the West Texas Builders' Supply Company in Midland.

Bishops Breakfast In Highlands

Mr. Fritz Hartung entertained at breakfast at Highlands Inn yesterday morning when his guests were Bishop Hanns Lilje, president of the Lutheran World Federation from Hanover, Germany; Bishop Volkmar Hertrich, Lutheran bishop of Hamburg; and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Titus of Carmel.

Both bishops came to the United States to attend the third assembly of the Lutheran World Federation in Minneapolis and to the Monterey Peninsula to be present at meetings of the Pacific South-west post-Minneapolis theological conference at Asilomar.

Bishop Lilje and Bishop Hertrich know members of Mr. Titus' family in Germany and during conversation around the breakfast table both Mr. and Mrs. Titus and the two visitors found they had many mutual friends in Germany. Conversation was interrupted frequently when both Bishop Lilje and Bishop Hertrich exclaimed over the amazing beauty of the coast seen through the windows of the Inn.

Back From British Isles

Miss Edith Griffin is "glad to be back in Carmel" though she had an interesting time in England and Scotland for four months.

"It was a literary trip," says Miss Griffin former owner of the Village Book Shop in Carmel. "I saw homes of writers, churches, and Queen Elizabeth at the trooping of the colors. In Canterbury I stayed in a house inside the close gates and it is remarkable to me that in coronation movies so little of the destruction of Westminster Abbey showed. The damage is fast being repaired in the abbey as well as elsewhere in England."

A bus strike and illness curtailed much of the sightseeing Miss Griffin had planned in Scotland but she did see Edinburgh Castle though she missed Loch Lomond.

Major Cowan, Miss Sloss Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Sloss of San Francisco announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Janet Barth Sloss, to Major Jackson J. Cowan, director of the Carmel Valley Country School and of Forest Hill School in Carmel. The wedding will be on Thanksgiving Eve at the home of the bride's parents.

Janet is the granddaughter of Judge and Mrs. M. C. Sloss of San Francisco and of Mrs. Irvin V. Barth of Carmel Valley and San Francisco and the late Judge Barth. Her sister is Mrs. Charles I. Yoder (Harriet Sloss) of Gates Mills, Ohio. She graduated from Antioch College in Ohio in 1956 and spent last year teaching English and physical education at the Rocky Mountain School in Colorado. Marriage plans prevented her from continuing her teaching career.

Major Cowan is the son of Mrs. Stephen Cowan of Dallas, Texas, and of the late Mr. Cowan. He has degrees from Texas University, Texas Medical School and Vanderbilt University. His sisters are Mrs. E. M. Bardwell, Mrs. Daniel R. Bucy and Mrs. Vernon Bryant Poe, all of Dallas. His brother is Homer H. Cowan of Terra Bella, California.

Marie Russell

Mrs. Marie Lux Russell died on September 5 at her home on Mission Street between Fifth and Sixth Avenues.

Mrs. Russell was born in San Jose on February 28, 1895. Her husband Frederick Russel died in 1936. Ten years ago Mrs. Russell came from Marin County to share a home with her close friend Miss Kay Lawlor. Mrs. Russell was a director of the Spreckels-Russell Dairy Company of San Francisco. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Lux Potts of San Francisco.

Private funeral services preceded inurnment in the family plot in San Rafael Cemetery.
